Program Overview

This program will focus on the proven primary SCD prevention with the WCD. Presentations will include the recently published data from the randomized device trial, VEST, as well as the WEARIT-II Europe registry and will discuss the implications of these data in clinical practice. The faculty will also review strategies for treating newly diagnosed heart failure patients including the role that guideline directed medical therapy, in combination with the WCD, plays in providing them with time to determine long-term risk management needs.
